

Anti-Social Behaviour Roleplay

Understanding a world that is not accessible from the perspective of someone living with a disability

"cause they are disabled people think they can't do anything back"

"We definitely saw how much more they were involved the more we did as we started to work really well together as a team delivering it." - Police

In partnership with Building Bridges in the Community, Amber Valley Ambles, Walks4Wellbeing walkers and my Better Ways to Better Days group to create this experience with Derby & Nottingham service providers, like Sight Support at Queen's Med, Cotmanhay Junior School and Parkside High CIC.

Aims, To support children and young people to:

- Empathise with people with different vulnerabilities
- Reflect on how their own behaviour might impact on others positively and negatively
- Understand how their behaviour might be perceived and what they can do to be perceived in a positive way

3 sessions
85 student
Aged 10-11

"people are getting "you are who you are and no one can change that by words" more scared, having to go out to the shops"

"people can't accept that people need it (support) to survive, to get to places"

"I feel that most of the children really got involved and had a great time." - Police

What would help you to walk more in and around Cotmanhay?

- 1 - Improved safety
- 2 - Group walks
- 3 - Improved facilities

Positive Outcomes

During the whole school litter pick, pupils thought about disabled and vulnerable people and commented on how the litter was not just an eyesore but might cause problems for people with limited or restricted mobility
